Speakers

Producer, Nancy Norton Bevins

Nancy Norton Bevins uses the art of cinema to spread the Gospel and God's power to heal. Bevins will host a panel discussion on the mystical connection between these three films.

Herb Blake

Herb Blake is a shining example of how Faith can create miracles. After serving 23 years in prison Herb has returned to bring a message of Transformation and Hope to those whose challenges seem greater than their ability to overcome them.

Brian Warth

Brian Warth's life is a modern day miracle of restoration. The youngest "lifer" prisoner to be granted parole, today he is a pastor and conference speaker, inspiring thousands with his story of hope and redemption.

Righting the Wrong

"Righting the Wrong" is about the principles of Restorative Justice and the Juvenile Justice system. By seeking to restore the broken relationships caused by wrongdoing, Restorative Justice gives voice to all who are affected by crime: victim, perpetrator, their families, and the community.

2010, 28 minutes

Righting the Wrong

2010, 28 minutes

A juvenile gang member sentenced to life in prison, but who earns parole with the grace of God, of volunteers, and an amazing inner discipline... A woman with the strength to minister to victims of violence even though she has been a victim of violence herself... A community activist who loses his son to the same street violence he has fought to tame... These are some of the stories in a powerful documentary called "Righting the Wrong", about the principles of Restorative Justice and the Juvenile Justice system. By seeking to restore the broken relationships caused by wrongdoing, Restorative Justice gives voice to all who are affected by crime: victim, perpetrator, their families, and the community. <http://www.loyolaproductions.com/component/content/article/47-industrial/643-restorative-justice.html>

Interrupted Lives

2009, 58 minutes

Some were nurses. Many were educators. Still others cared for orphans, the elderly, the mentally ill. They were the Greek and Roman Catholic Sisters of Eastern and Central Europe who freely dedicated their lives to serve their brothers and sisters. But at the end of World War 2, Josef Stalin and communism seized control of their countries, imposing a 40-year reign of atheistic control. Interrupted Lives explores the experiences of these Sisters through interviews with the now-elderly survivors of the Soviet domination of Eastern and Central Europe. Until the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989, many of these religious women endured imprisonment, exile to Siberia, forced farm and factory labor, deportation, seizure of their schools and hospitals and expulsion from their convents. Also included are interviews with "Secret Sisters" who joined religious life during this Communist period and lived out their vocations in the underground. <http://www.interruptedlives.org/index.php>

The Labyrinth

2010, 25 minutes

On June 14, 1940, Marian Kolodziej enters the gates of Auschwitz. He was the first transport to arrive there. He survived and never spoke about this experience until 45 years later when he had a stroke. For his rehabilitation, he asked for a pen and paper, and began to draw images of his experience in Auschwitz. His drawings, hundreds of them are installed in the basement of a Franciscan church near Auschwitz. Marian called it "the labyrinth" this film is a journey thorough the labyrinth of his drawings. <http://vimeo.com/13830480>

Forgiveness and Healing:

2009, 55 minutes

We see Ed Tick and his wife Kate Dahlstedt take a group of traumatized Vietnam War vets back to the land where they fought and killed, to help them learn the art of "forgiveness of the self" for what they did during a war almost 40 years ago. Azim Khamisa practices "forgiveness of the other" as he traces how he learned to forgive the boy who murdered his own son. Now Khamisa works with the killer's grandfather to foster forgiveness and healing with young audiences all over the world. <http://www.cultureunplugged.com/play/1723/Forgiveness-and-Healing>

Climate Refugees

2010, 89 Minutes

If global warming is our planet's most pressing issue, large-scale population displacement is the human consequence. Massive continental migration is already under way, and diminished natural resources continue to threaten the lives of millions. The quickly submerging islands of Tuvalu in the South Pacific, drought-affected regions of Sudan, storm-susceptible coastlines of Bangladesh, and rapidly expanding deserts in China are forcing millions to relocate beyond their borders. Who will accept these refugees, and how will they impact their adopted homeland? Strong visuals and potent testimony from the victims of climate change, politicians, scientists, relief organizations, and authors help sound the alarm for instituting new policies and working together to create solutions to cope with this imminent crisis. Climate Refugees fervently captures the human fallout of climate change. <http://www.climaterefugees.com/>

El Camino Documentary

2009, 23 minutes

A film following six pilgrims from incredibly diverse walks of life, as they attempt to cross a country on foot with only a backpack, a pair of boots and an open mind. Driven by an inexplicable calling and a grand sense of adventure, each pilgrim throws themselves heart-and-soul into their physical trek to Santiago, and, most importantly, into their personal journey to themselves. One thing becomes clear: not a one can predict how their journey will unfold. In response to our time's foreign tragedies and domestic hardships, The Camino Documentary is a universal story of authentic transformation for those seeking to redefine the way they live their lives, to deepen their relationship with themselves, and to rediscover their connection with the world in which they live. It is the promise of experiencing something truly extraordinary. <http://www.caminodocumentary.org/>
